Dear Winton Families,

Wow! We are incredibly proud of all the pupils; they have consistently amazed us over the last six weeks. We are also enormously thankful to you their parents, for the support you have given them and us. This week's stars are: Star Assembly Friday 12th February

How can we trust what we see and read on the internet?
Write down your answer for Miles.

adil
don't trust anyone you see online or in games they could hack your device and they might know where you live if you know them you can trust them a little bit they might be hackers or normal people but make sure u know them so they don't scam ya. tell an adult anything that's bad and be careful for any hackers.

Alfie
Don't trust anyone you don't no even if they are being really nice. Never give away your personal information because you don't who you are really talking to. If someone gives you a friend request, don't accept it unless you know that person. If someone is annoying you report them

Shashah
You can trust it if you have used it before and if you haven't used it before bout someone you can trust has ask them if it is safe. It also has a age limit so if your not the right age yet don't use it and if it doesn't have a lock on the top side of your screen its not safe.

Ela
Dont belive someone who wants your paswored they will scam

If your child is learning onsite and they are absent, you must phone the school office. Do not send a message on class dojo.

If your child is learning online and you need to get a message to the class teacher, please message them directly on class dojo as they are not working onsite. This will be quicker for communication.

Please remember if you are visiting Winton site you must do one of the following:

- wear a face covering;
- wear a face visor.
- wear an exemption lanyard (these are available free from Transport for London - but take 10 days to arrive) and stand well back from the others
- get another person to do the morning drop-off and afternoon collection.

WORLD BOOK DAY

4 MARCH 2021

World Book Week will take place from Monday 1st - Friday 5th March 2021 and will be based around the theme of 'Space'. The week will be filled with lots of fun, out of this world activities (more to follow, so keep an eye on the whole school story on Class Dojo!)

A highlight of World Book Day each year is always dressing up and this year will be no different! We may be learning from home, but we would still love everyone to join in and dress up as their favourite book character on Friday 5th March.

You will also still receive a book token, however this year it will be a digital book token, which can be printed or shown on your phone to redeem a £1 world book day book in selected retailers.
